FOREWORD

In publishing this 1937 edition of The Oracle we hope that each one who receives one will keep it throughout his life as a remembrance of the happy days spent at Central High School.

As the theme for this edition we have chosen the Indian, who was the principal inhabitant of our State one hundred years ago.

To those who follow, we leave the responsibility of upholding the high standards of this school as set by those who preceded us.

We wish to thank you, Miss Smith and your art classes for the valuable material that you have so willingly contributed to this book. To Mr. Crittenden and his Sophomore B English Classes we extend our appreciation for the splendid poems which they have composed for our division pages.

Leo Federman is to be complimented on his work as Camera Editor, as you will see from his snapshots throughout the book.

The members of the Oracle Board wish to show their gratitude to Mr. Alderton of the State Journal for his fine cooperation in allowing us the use of many athletic pictures.

DEDICATION

The June and January classes of 1937 wish to show their appreciation of Mr. Harry A. Strait's work as Business Adviser by dedicating this forty-sixth edition of the Oracle to him.

MISS LOTT RETIRES

To hundreds, nay thousands of men and women, who as youths have sat in its classrooms and study rooms, Lansing Central High School means Emma M. Lott.

They have worn a broad and deep pathway to her door, for into her ears they have poured their joys and woes. Miss Lott has never failed them. She is sympathetic, sincere, just, and wise. Her counsel, her reproof, her admonition, her approbation, alike these are based on an understanding of the personality of the individual, and on his peculiar problems, and are given with genuine interest in his welfare, and in his moral and spiritual growth.

In the earlier years of Miss Lott's service in Central High School, many students had the opportunity of receiving class room instruction from her. They appreciate her as a teacher of supreme ability who adorned her clear and lucid exposition of principles by a rare and winning charm of personality.

Today from all corners of the world these former students return to Miss Lott's door. They visit her when they are in town, they write letters and post-cards from distant towns, they bring her photographs of mates and children, and often resume the old habit of their schooldays, as they confide in her their adult problems. If they continue to live in Lansing they send their children to Central, with the comfortable assurance that the second generation will make a double appeal to her interest and sympathy.

We, who are students of Central today deeply appreciate the privilege of our acquaintance with Miss Lott. We unite with those past generations in visualizing for her, future years of activity and service in new fields, as she lays down the exacting details of her school duties. Never can the path to her door become grass-grown from disuse. Never can we loose the bonds of friendship and affection. To the men and women who have been the student body of our school for forty-three years, Central High School means Miss Lott.

THE PLAINT OF A CHIEF

Oh, Great Spirit, look down on my council fire and touch my tongue. Give me words to tell my people of the moons that have gone, the moon that is, and the moons to come.

Great Father, long ago your children owned this beautiful land of Michigama; but even as the sun rose on the glory of our people, so did it set.

The night came. Not a night that was bright with the camp fires before the tepees of the tribes but a night of desolation and despair. You had hidden your face from your people.

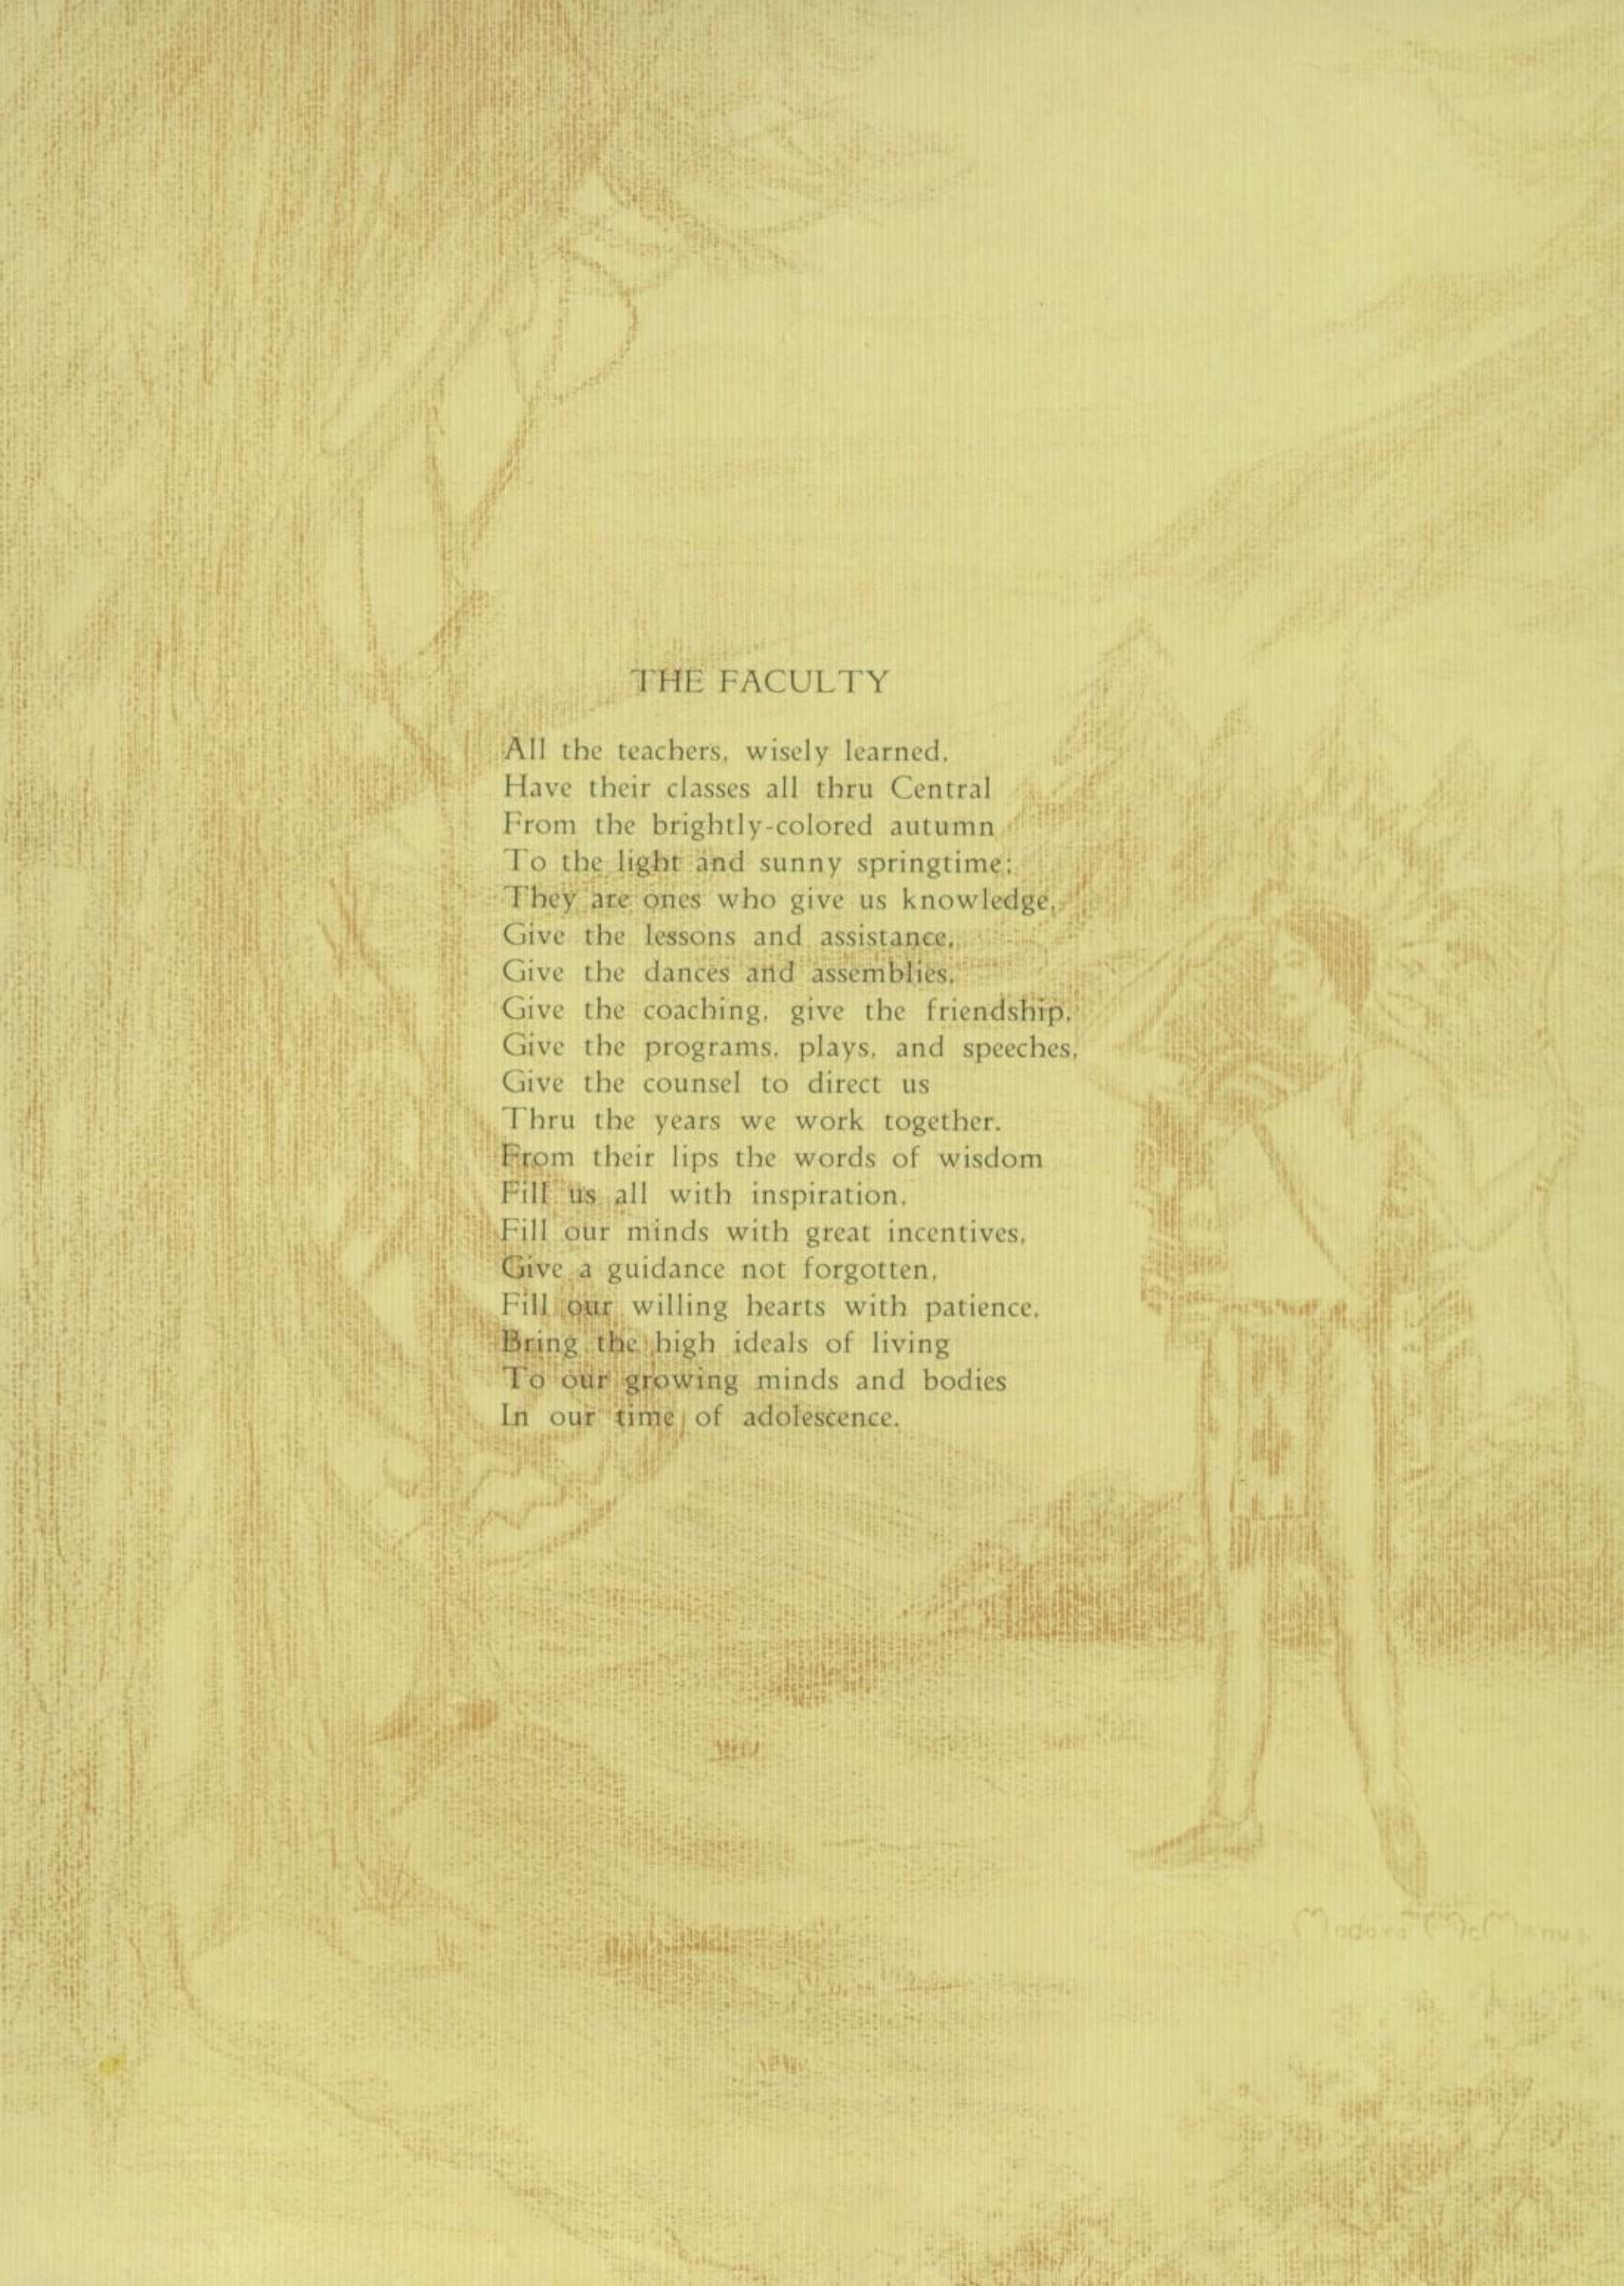

Our white brothers had come and with their fire-water and thunder-sticks had driven us from our hunting grounds. Our braves and warriors followed the war-path no more. Our old men no longer boasted of their patience and cunning. Our maidens sang no longer at their work. Our squaws and papooses were still. Even our dogs did not bark. You had departed and the pale faces had come.

The white men made our forests disappear. They harnessed our streams to make lights for their lodges. They taught our children their tongue and their ways. No more may a brave stalk the deer into the deep woods. No more may he fish in the clear streams, or float on the great lakes in his canoe. Where once were forests, now there are the white man's medicine-lodges. Our streams are foul with filth from the large villages of the pale faces, for our white brothers have increased until they are as many as the leaves in the forests of our forefathers. Our trails and paths have gone and in their places are broad road-ways which are traveled not by horses but by soulless creatures of the white man's making. They have built great tepees in which they worship their God. They have put their wisdom into books and they teach their youths and maidens for many moons until they are wise in the ways of white man's magic.

Oh, Great Father, their magic is great and it is good but it is not for the Indian. Your people are not happy. Your people are kept captive in the settlements the pale-faces made for them. Your braves and warriors are made to tend the grains like squaws.

Aiee! Yes, the glory of the red-man is gone and now the tribes themselves are following their glory to the region of the sunset.

THE FACULTY

All the teachers, wisely learned,
Have their classes all thru Central
From the brightly-colored autumn
To the light and sunny springtime;
They are ones who give us knowledge,
Give the lessons and assistance,
Give the dances and assemblies,
Give the coaching, give the friendship,
Give the programs, plays, and speeches,
Give the counsel to direct us
Thru the years we work together.
From their lips the words of wisdom
Fill us all with inspiration,
Fill our minds with great incentives,
Give a guidance not forgotten,
Fill our willing hearts with patience,
Bring the high ideals of living
To our growing minds and bodies
In our time of adolescence.

SENIORS

Should you ask me of these Seniors—
Whence their wisdom and tradition
With the fire of ambition,
With the tact and skill of students,
With the bubbling, laughing chatter
With their dancing at gay parties
With their frequent mild flirtations
And their happy free rejoicings
As they scamper thru the hallways

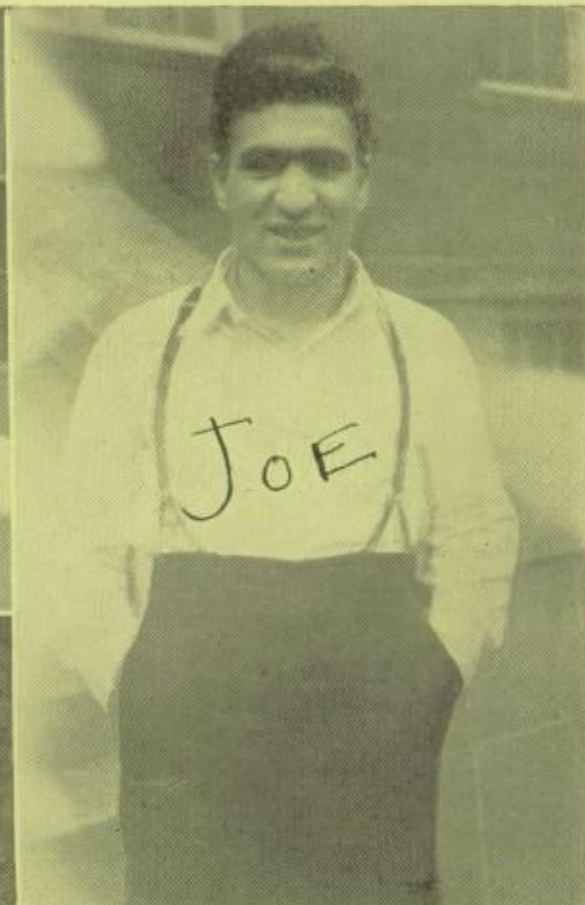

I should answer, I should tell you:
From their teachers and their parents,
From the classes gone before them,
From their friends in conversation,
From the books with which they study,
From societies, clubs, and games—
Where LeFurge, their own Shuh-shuh-gah,
Strives to strengthen each ideal;
I repeat them as I heard them
From the lips of the Preceptress
From Miss Lott of dear old Central.

THE JUNIORS

So the Juniors journeyed, onward,
Left their slower friends behind them,
Left the Sophomore and shyness,
Crossed the fleeing days of study,
Crossed the speeding months of learning,
Passed the lessons in their text-books,
Passed assignments which they mastered,
Passed the tests of all the teachers,
Came unto the night awaited,
To the night of Junior Frolic,
Where above the dancing students
Sat the lovely Queen of Honor,
Ruler of the Junior Party.

THE SOPHOMORES

O my Sophomores! My young Sophomores!
Listen to the voice of Learning,
Listen to the voice of Conscience,
From the lips of Education,
From the Spirit of Youth who leads you.
I have given you friends to work with;
I have given you pen and paper,
I have given you games and hobbies;
I have given you clubs and teachers—
Filled the long halls full of laughter
Filled the class rooms full of students:
Seek then how to use your knowledge!
Seek then to attain more wisdom!

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

To the Members of the Graduating Class of 1937:

This year the Lansing Central High School sends its 64th graduating class out into the world. It has been sixty-four years since the first class of three girls received their diplomas.

An Alumni Association was formed as early as 1874 with Mr. Jason Nichols, a member of the second class, as president.

At intervals between 1875 and 1898 alumni banquets were features of commencement week. There was, however, no continuous organization during the latter part of that period.

In the year 1907 the graduating class held a banquet in the Masonic Temple at which time a constitution and by-laws were adopted and officers elected. Since that time an annual banquet and reunion has been one of the chief social functions of the commencement season. At the banquet in 1910 the Alumni Association founded the College Benefit Club, to afford a means by which a graduate may obtain a loan for future advancement. The club at this time, stands ready to assist any worthy graduate in proceeding with his education.

In a few short weeks the members of this year's graduating class will become members of the Alumni Association of Central High School. There are no dues except the ones of interest and enthusiasm which you alone can give. The future standards of Central High School will benefit by your interest in this association.

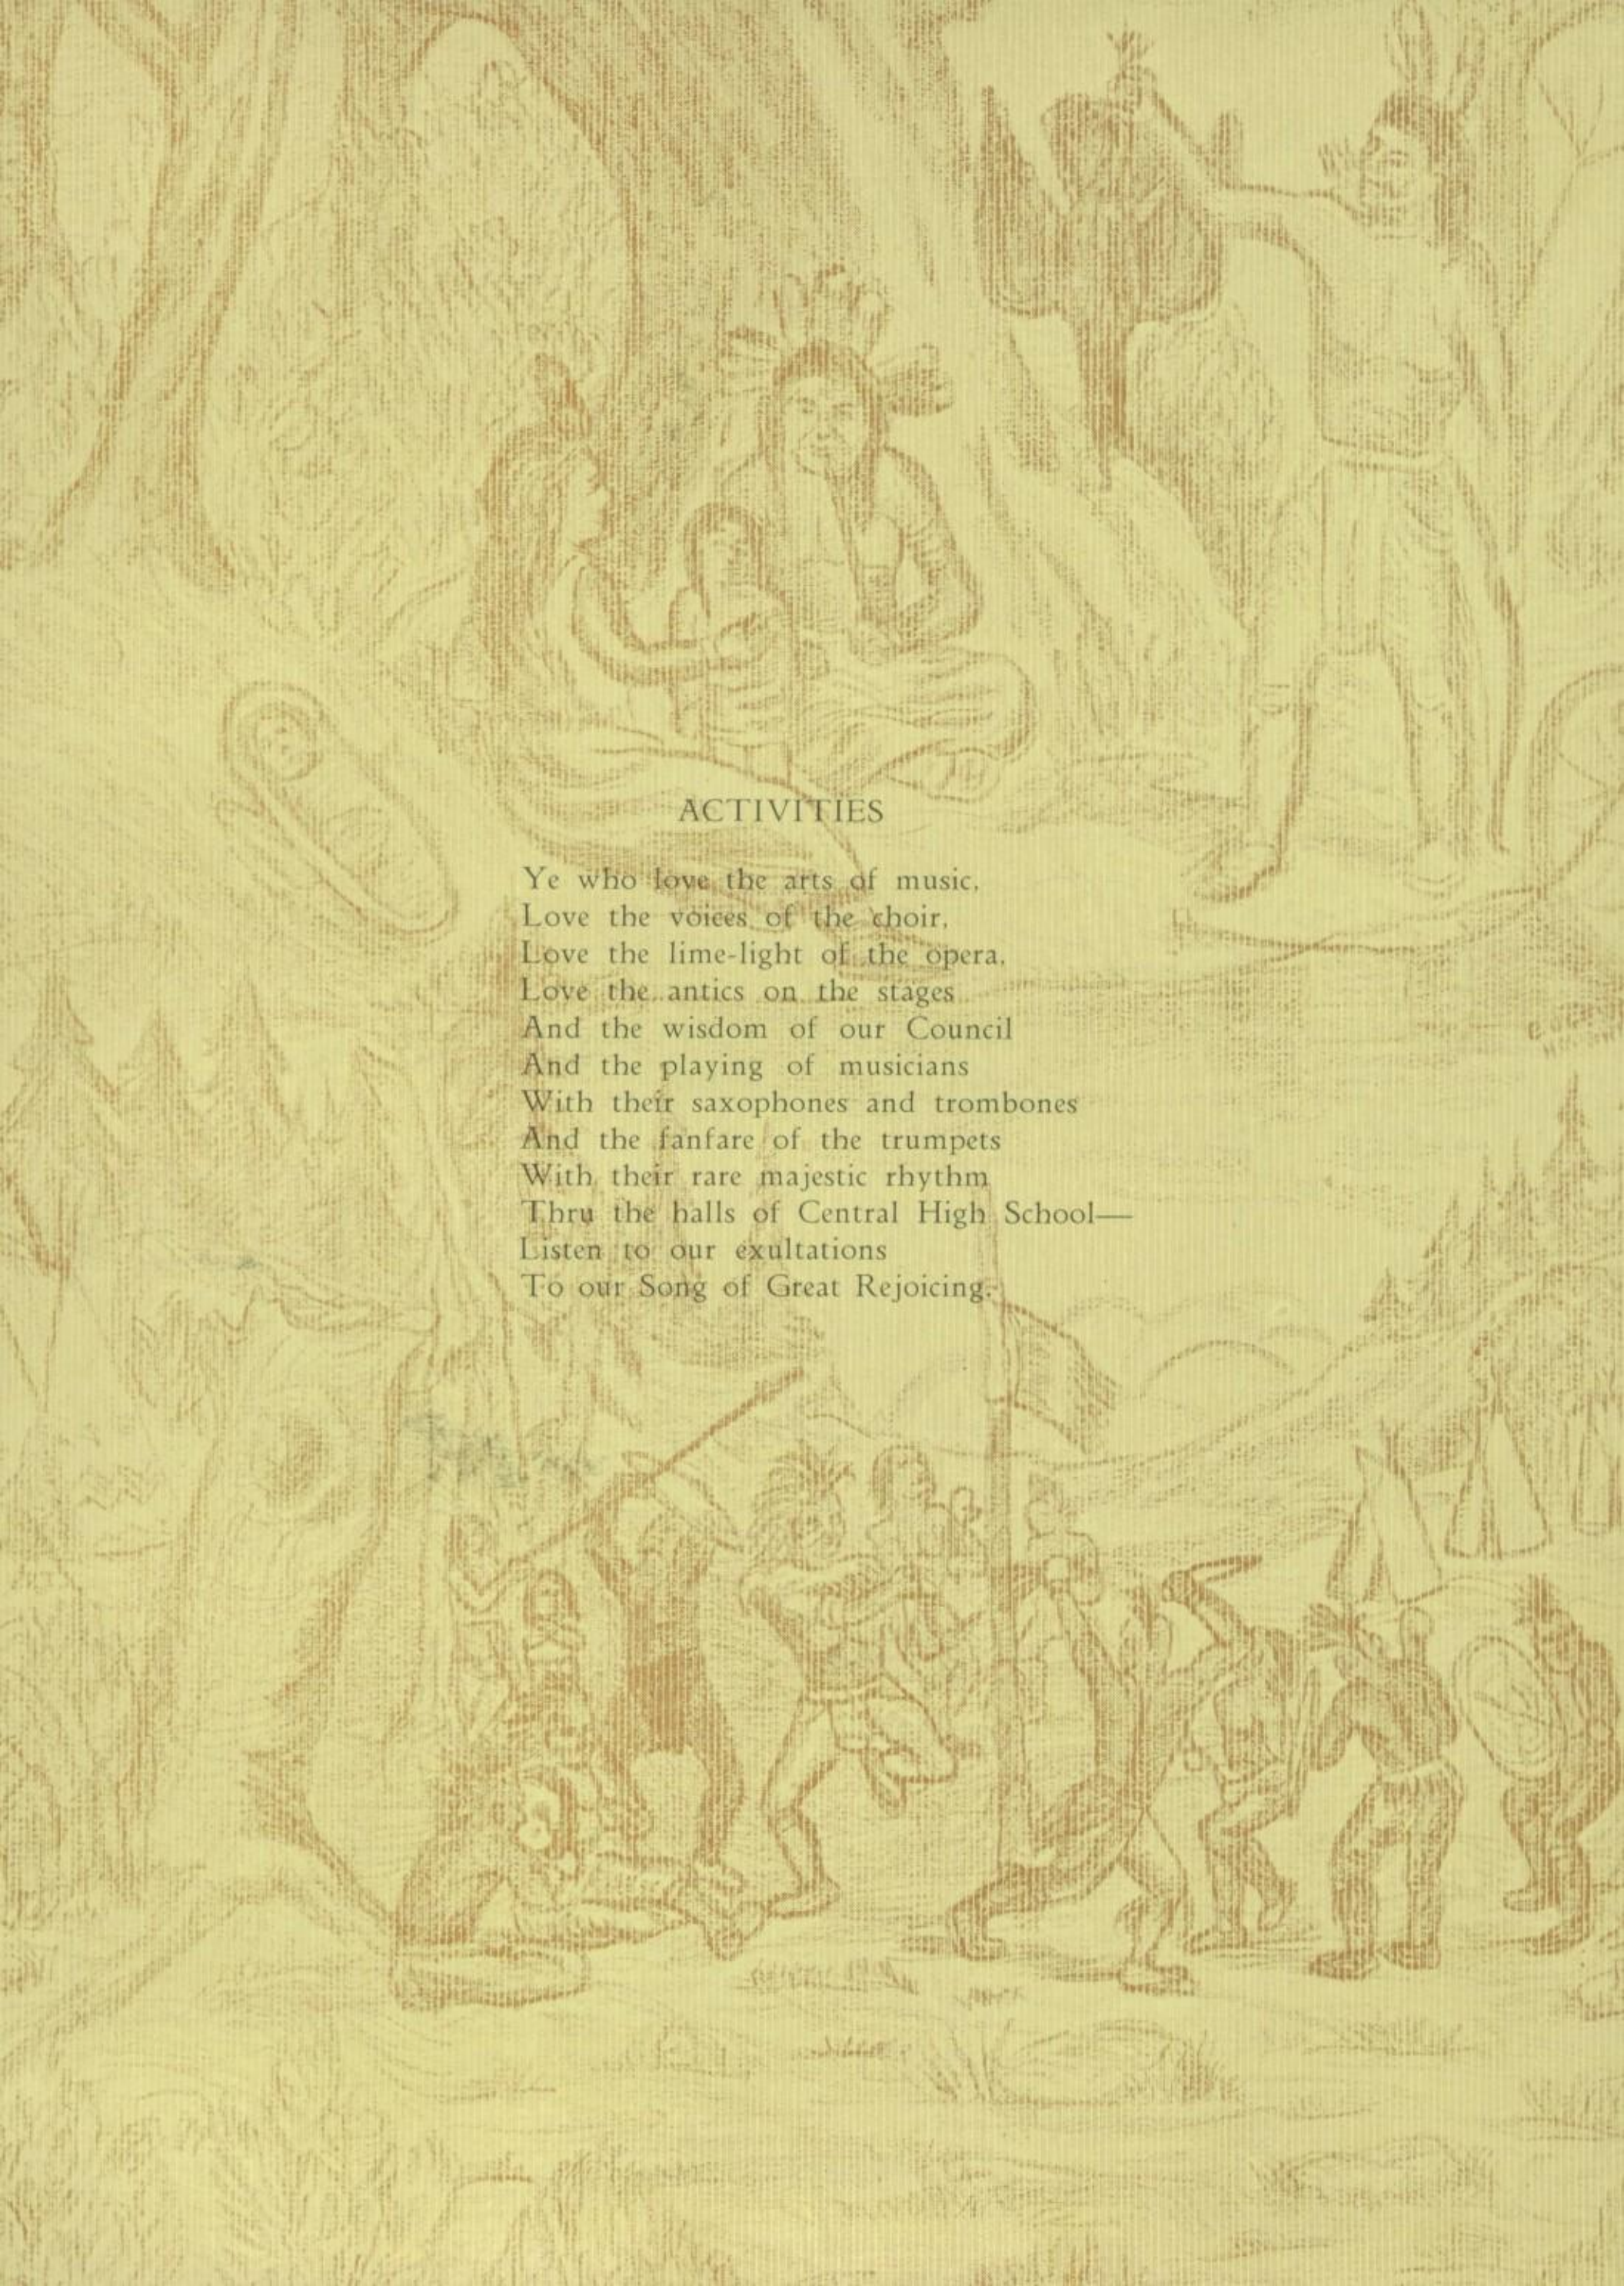

Thru this organization, the graduates are kept close together, the needs of the school are promoted and, in general, the best interests of both school and students are held to be the governing principles of the Alumni Association.

May these later graduating classes feel their responsibility in helping to maintain a strong, progressive, Alumni Association for Lansing Central High School.

Sincerely yours,

ROSCOE A. MOSHER,

*President of Central High School
Alumni Association*

ACTIVITIES

Ye who love the arts of music,
Love the voices of the choir,
Love the lime-light of the opera,
Love the antics on the stages
And the wisdom of our Council
And the playing of musicians
With their saxophones and trombones
And the fanfare of the trumpets
With their rare majestic rhythm
Thru the halls of Central High School—
Listen to our exultations
To our Song of Great Rejoicing.

DEBATE TEAM

Speck, O'Meara, Thorburn, Gay, McDonald

DEBATE SEASON

The subject for debate this year was: "Resolved, That all electric utilities should be governmentally owned and operated." The season commenced with a tournament at Flint Central, in which our teams won three and lost two debates. Then came the four contests of the State League, in which Central lost a very close decision to Bay City, took the short end of a split decision with Flint Central, lost to last year's State Champions, Kalamazoo, and ended the season with a victory over Jackson. About ten practice non-decision debates were held including Eastern, East Lansing, Howell, Marshall, Albion, and Everett. Major letter winners were Mary Ellen O'Meara, Theodis Gay, John Speck, and Albert Thorburn.

ORGANIZATIONS

In our school some clubs were started,
And their happy working members
Named them Radio, Art, and Travel,
Named them Science, Stamp, and Commerce,
Also Music, Chess, and Camera.

Into these the students gather
With their teachers as advisers—

In our shield they shine with splendor.

Here our Hi-Y Club was founded
With the Sub-Deb and the Parrott,
With the Boxing and the Printing
And the Boosters of our Athletes
And the Poets with their rhythm
And Sophisticated Sophomores.

Came Adelphic and Frasoris
Gad-Abouts and merry Debettes
Girl Reserves and Romans Daily
Tapperettes and Taxidermists
Airplane Makers—keen Electrics
Journalists and Auto Builders
'Phronians and 'Ripideans—

All with pleasure and with spirit,
All with friendship of the students
Like a golden jewel shining
On the stream of life we follow.

CENTRAL HIGH

For our Central High
 Boys, now we sing,
 It's for the good old school
 Our banners fling,
 We're marching on and on to victory,
 And the fight will show for everyone to see
 We are from C-E-N-T-R-A-L,
 And to the whole wide world we'll tell
 That we're first and always for our school,
 Central High!

ATHLETICS

Here we sing of dear old Central,
Here we sing the song of victors
Over foes in track and swimming,
With their running and their splashing,
With the swing of gold and tennis,
And the hurling to the basket—
For the Red and White we honor,
For the colors that we cherish!

You who love the thrills of football,
Love the evenings in the autumn,
Love the spirit of the cheering,
Love the pigskin on the gridiron,
And Central's band in all its splendor,
And the strutting of drum majors,
And the kick-off toward the goal post,
And the roaring in the bleachers,
And the passing of great players,
And the tenseness near a touchdown—
Listen to the scores of chieftains,
Listen to our song of victory.

GREGORY G. ROBINSON
Athletic Director

The backbone of the athletic staff, "Robby" handles all of the details which make the athletic machinery run smoothly. From early morning until late at night, he quickly and quietly dispatches his duties in such a manner as to produce shouts of admiration from his fellow workers.

JOHN J. MIDDLESWORTH
Head Coach

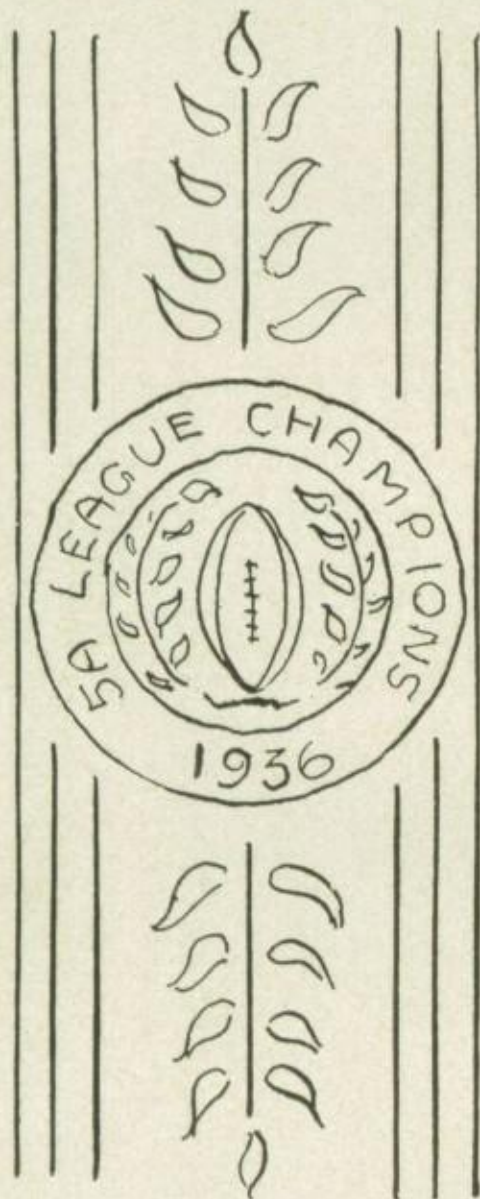

He is the priming charge of Central's athletic guns. He is the manufacturer who takes raw material and converts it into finished athletes. He is not only coach and mentor, but a friend and ally to all who go out for sports. In short, he is the "boss."

BOARD IN CONTROL OF ATHLETICS

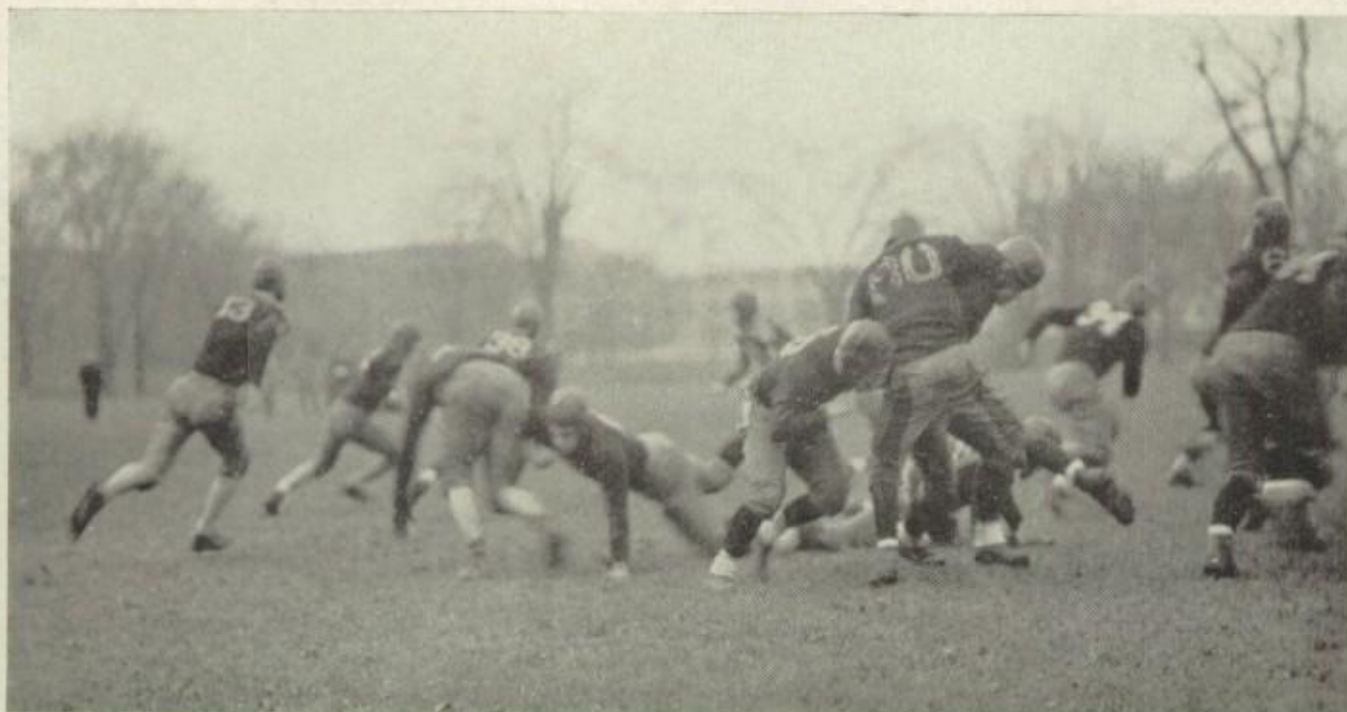

The Athletic Board supervises all forms of athletics established at Central High. The faculty members of the Board are all members ex-officio. Two boys and one girl are elected by the students from the school-at-large.

SUMMARY

The 1936 Football season was one of the most successful in recent years. Central's goal was crossed but twice the entire season—when Saginaw Arthur Hill handed us our sole defeat. Eighty-eight points were run up against the opponents' 12. As a climax for the season, Central defeated our arch rivals, Eastern, by a score of 7-0.

MR. JOHNSON

During the last football season the turf of the field on which the teams practiced, Scott Field, was in the best condition it has been in recent years. With weeds and grass knee high and over, a scythe, hand lawn mower his only tools, and sprinkling facilities pathetically inadequate, Mr. Johnson worked very diligently throughout the previous summer. His reward was a turf prepared for the hard usage that a football field must go through during the season. We wish to compliment Mr. Johnson at this moment on his fine work.

SUMMARY

The Little Reds began their season by defeating the Boys' Vocational School and the newly organized Resurrection team. The heavier and more experienced Eastern Reserves and Mason teams dimmed the hopes of an undefeated season. Hampered by the loss of personnel by promotions to the Big Reds, the Little Reds fought with the "bantam gameness" that is characteristic of the sophomore teams of Mr. Lantz.

 First Row: Collins, Kieppe, Wood, Ehret, Drouin

SUMMARY

Due to mid-season graduation, a potential championship basketball team was broken up in January and the remainder of the season was finished with inexperienced players. Four of the five regulars graduated leaving the ranks to be filled by Sophomores and Juniors. At the end of the season, however, Central was tied for the Five-A League Championship with Ann Arbor, both teams having won six games and lost two. In the Regional Tournament Central bowed to Eastern in the first game 19 to 8.

SUMMARY

The Little Reds had a very successful season, winning 10 out of 13 games. Mr. Lantz's team has shown splendid spirit and an unselfish attitude concerning removal from games to give experience to more players.

From this squad Coach Middlesworth will have an abundance of fine material from which to choose a team for next year.

DAMARAS WENG

Adviser of Girls' Athletics

Miss Weng has been superb in her supervision of girls' athletics. She is always ready to lend services where they are needed. Everything she does is done to the best of her ability. We are proud to have Miss Weng among our faculty.

GIRLS' POINT SYSTEM

The girl who wins an honor in athletics must participate in dancing, hiking, all kinds of ball teams, tumbling, swimming, tennis, skating, and other sports. She must also have good hygiene habits and keep high standards of living.

Having taken part in these activities and received the required number of points, she is rewarded with a small letter "C." For a still larger number of points she receives a large letter "C." The main purpose of the point system is to promote better living for girls.

Sand -- or ROCK?

"You'll go farther if you don't try to go so fast." Or words to that effect. Anyway—there's plenty of good common sense in the idea.

You folks who graduate this year have a lot of years ahead of you. Make them as productive as you can—that will be fine. But remember—you'll go farther and higher if you will build soundly as you go. Build the house of your career on rock—houses built on sand don't last very long.
